"THE NEW-COMERS' GUIDE TO HONGKONG."

THINGS ON WHICH HE MAY BE LED ASTRAY.

There are already several "Guides to Hongkong," but now that the tourist traffic has revived it is evidently thought that there is a call for another. Messrs. Kelly & Walsh, Ltd., have just published one entitled "The Newcomer's Guide: What to see in Hongkong." The compiler, H. M. Evans, is, we understand, a lady, but whether married or single we are not informed; hence the absence of the Miss or Mrs.

The book is published at a dollar and, written in a naive, chatty style. It is a very comprehensive little guide covering about fifty pages but it contains a few statements, that are new to those who know the Colony intimately. For instance, a monument at the junction of Harlech and Lugard Roads, we are told, was put up by the regiment of the 25th Middlesex, who were in Hongkong a few years ago, "to the memory of those who went down in the Tyndarus." In the interests of historical accuracy, the authoress might like to know that although the Tyndarus struck a mine she did not go down, and no lives were lost. The stone commemorates a mine she did not go down, and no lives were lost. The stone commemorates a mine she did not go down, and no lives were lost.

Another piece of information new to us is that near to the Fanling Golf Course a temple has been erected to the god of golf. The authoress tells the newcomer that "the new road brought much prosperity to the district and the main feature of the new road was the presence of men carrying bags of clubs. So a god was created in their image." If "The Newcomer's Guide" was not a more or less serious publication we should regard this as subtle humour. We presume the reference is to the "half way house" on the main road, erected by the generosity of the late Sir Henry May, and Mr. "Jock" Forrest, two enthusiastic members of the Golf Club, as a rest house for the tired golfer, where in the summer months his thirst may be quenched.

Another paragraph at which the resident will jib reads:—"There is no regular European Theatre. Wandering companies occasionally land on the island and give a show in the City Hall." They don't; they give the show in the "Theatre Royal." Dances and lectures are given in the City Hall. The author seems to know something of this, too, for on another page, she says "the City Hall fills the same rôle as the assembly Rooms at Bath."

"The Hongkong Club," we learn, "was founded to promote good understanding between Navy, Army and Commerce. Everybody who is anybody at all belongs to it."

A historical error creeps in again in the reference to Kowloon Old City as "not under direct British administration" but "quite safe," the authoress adds. If she had consulted the historical article in the Directory published by the Hongkong Daily Press she would have read: "In the Convention it was provided that Kowloon City was to remain Chinese, but it having been established beyond doubt that the hands of the Chinese officials were by no means clean in respect of the disturbances that occurred on the taking over of the leased area, the Home Government decided to mark their sense of the duplicity of the Chinese in a suitable manner and orders were accordingly issued to the military authorities to seize Kowloon walled city and Shamshum. This was done on the 16th May, 1899, no opposition being encountered at either place."

No detail is considered too small for this "Guide." The writer notes that one can never get anything but European eggs, which are too small for Chinese eggs, and that the pigs in Kowloon "have such short legs that their tummies can't clear the ground."

Praise of local shops, our Guide tells us, are not advertisements, but professional men will probably deprecate as being in conspicuously bad taste such reference to a medical firm (address and telephone number given) as that "one of the partners is reputed to be the best surgeon, and another the best baby doctor in the colony." Equally indiscreet are certain references in the book to other nations and their Armies and Navies.

One joins with the authoress in her praise of the view from Lugard Road, but one wonders whether she has really seen there a butterfly "that looks like a Persian cat."

Commenting on "the apparently happy life that goes on in the incredibly crowded tenements" out Shaukiwan way," the authoress pulls herself up short with this footnote:—

"They look crowded but the Sanitary Department keeps a strict look out for real overcrowding, which it stops at once. Further, every single cubicle in thickly populated areas is thoroughly cleaned out and disinfected by the Department twice a year."

Curious in view of this, that the Medical Officer of Health should so frequently address the Sanitary Board on the evils of overcrowding in Hongkong—and not by any means in Shaukiwan only.

We have often heard people discussing which is architecturally "the most beautiful building in Hongkong," and we may note here that "The Newcomer's Guide" says it is "probably" the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank. But a question that intrigues us still more is: Who is "the most remarkable woman in Hongkong," to whom the authoress has dedicated her book? This should afford an interesting topic for discussion at ladies' afternoon tea parties.

EUROPEAN FIRED UPON. SEQUEL TO OIL THEFT AT NORTH POINT.

Mr. W. B. Lightburn, manager of the Asiatic Petroleum Company's North Point Installation depot, had a startling experience at the depot, on Thursday night, when he was fired upon with a revolver by a Chinese. At about twenty minutes past seven Mr. Lightburn was standing on his verandah, watching for the return of four of the company's lighters. As he watched he noticed a Chinese standing on the jetty. The manager thought this somewhat strange as he knew there were no men working there at that time, and accordingly he proceeded to investigate. He went down to the jetty, and on the way passed the armed guard who was standing on the jetty wall. On reaching the end of the jetty Mr. Lightburn noticed that the man was drawing oil from the pipe line which the company used to feed ships with. He was pouring the oil into a receptacle which looked like a Chinese pail. He sat on the feed pipe for a while and watched the thief, and when he had seen enough for his purpose he got up with the object of interrogating him. As he did so someone in one of the four sampans which were moored to the jetty fired a shot at him. The bullet struck the pipe line, but beyond making a dent did no damage. A second shot was fired, and the man on the jetty scrambled into one of the sampans. Meanwhile Mr. Lightburn hid behind the pipe till the shooting was all over. He then went back to look for the guard, but by this time he was at the other end of his beat and had heard nothing. The sampa man managed to get safely away. Mr. Lightburn does not think the man who fired the shot intended to hit him, but rather hoped to frighten him. The next day a search was made and a coolie found one of the bullets on the jetty. Up to the time of writing no arrests have been made.

SEQUEL TO A ROBBERY AT SAM SHUI PO.

FOUR MEN BROUGHT BEFORE THE COURT.

The four men arrested in connection with a recent robbery at Yu Yuk Street, Sam Shui Po, were charged before Mr. J. R. Wood, yesterday, with armed robbery and with the unlawful possession of one revolver, five rounds of ammunition and five daggers.

In reply to the Magistrate, Sub-Inspector Peter Grant said that the arms were used in connection with the robbery. In outlining the case, Inspector Grant said that six men gained access into No. 77, Yu Yuk Street. Three of them were armed with revolvers. The robbers bound and gagged the inmates and stole property to the value of $489. A report of the robbery was circulated to all stations and some time afterwards, the same day, a Chinese detective in Yau-mat was informed that a number of bad characters had assembled at No. 80, Yee Chau Street. Inspector Murphy led a party of Chinese detectives to the house, the door of which was opened by the fourth defendant. This man later informed the police that the revolver was hidden in a hole in the kitchen. The police found the daggers in the house and a quantity of the stolen property.

At the request of the Inspector the case was remanded until Tuesday.

DAGGER CONCEALED IN A WALKING STICK.

As the result of a police raid carried out by Inspector Murphy on a house at No. 386, Shanghai Street, Yau-mat, a carpenter was charged before Mr. J. R. Wood at the Magistrate's yesterday morning with unlawfully having in his possession a dagger.

Inspector Murphy said that he visited the house at 7 o'clock in the morning and found in the defendant's room a dagger made from a three-cornered file. The dagger was sheathed in a walking stick, which was lying alongside another stick of exactly the same pattern. It was the Inspector's belief that the defendant was not of the criminal type and asked his Worship to grant a remand with bail.

The case was adjourned to this morning, bail being fixed at $150.

FIEUZAL GLASSES

Out of doors there is nothing so restful and comfortable for the eyes as the light reflected from green fields and trees, the absorption of the ultra-violet and orange rays by the chlorophyll of the leaves; hence the introduction of Fieuzal Glasses, yellowish green in colour, which is produced in several shades, and lenses made of this may be worn as a protection by over-sensitive eyes where it is desirable to tone down excessive light and glare. Fieuzal lenses of any prescription in either regular or Toric forms are manufactured by the Hongkong Optical Co., successors to Clark & Co., Manufacturing and Refracting Opticians, 53, Queen's Road Central—ADVT.

While some of the notes in this queer medley of information and comment have been worth putting on record, one scarcely expects that this piece of work will take its place amongst the "Hongkongiana," which the compiler says "will someday be worth their weight in platinum."

ENGINEERS & SHIPBUILDERS' INSTITUTE BALL.

The last ball of the season of any importance—that held by the Institute of Engineers and Shipbuilders of Hongkong—took place at the City Hall last night. Some 850 guests spent a delightful evening, and the affair was generally voted to be more than up to the standards of previous years. Dancing was commenced at half-past nine and continued till the early hours of the morning. The decorative scheme was as effective as anything seen at the City Hall during the season, thought it was simple in conception, and not particularly elaborate in design. Guests entered the hall through the gates of a castle keep, which was decorated with greenery in most unwarlike manner. Once inside the hall a dazzling spectacle met the eye. The pillars in the hall were festooned with green-stuff, graceful palms were placed artistically in odd corners, and looking down from the head of the steps was an illuminated replica of the Institute crest. The crest at any time is impressive, consisting as it does of an eagle with spreading wings rising majestically from a glowing pyre set on the face of the globe, but when this design is worked out with a life size bird, gauzy clouds floating in the background, and most realistic flames licking the eagle's legs, its impressiveness is enhanced. On one side of the crest was a faithful model of a tram-car, whilst on the other side was a scale model of the first practical steamship ever built, the Charlotte Dundas, built in Scotland in the year 1801.

Both St. George's and St. Andrew's rooms were used for dancing. The floors were perfect and a pleasure to dance on. St. George's room was decorated with draped flags, the general colour scheme being red and white, as was fitting, whilst at one end was an imposing picture of Queen Victoria, draped with the flags of St. George and the Union Jack. At the other end was a huge illuminated monogram inscribed with the letters "I. E. & S. H." St. Andrew's room was decorated with gracefully draped flags and bunting designed with the colours of St. Andrew, blue and white. At one end of the room was the illuminated crest of the Institute, and at the other, draped with a Union Jack, a portrait of H.M. the King. The lighting throughout was schemed in a simple effect of blue and white.

The theatre was utilised as a supper room, and tastefully decorated with bunting, and the flags of all nations. The principal supper table was placed on the stage, and the scenic effect was arranged to represent a woodland scene. There were two sittings for supper. Music was rendered both for the supper and the dances by the Hongkong Hotel orchestra, and the players certainly put their best into the music.

The evening was opened with the official lanterns the dancers taking part in this were: Admiral and Mrs. Baker, Hon. Mr. Claud Severn and Lady Rees Davies, Commodore Grace and Mrs. Edkins, Sir William Rees Davies and Mrs. Grace.

The guests at the principal supper table were as follows:—H.E. the Governor and Mrs. Baker; Mr. G. J. Harman and Lady Rees Davies; Sir William Rees Davies and Mrs. Dyer; Hon. Mr. Claud Severn and Mrs. Edkins; Col. Day and Mrs. Greig; Commodore Grace and Mrs. McCubbin; Hon. Mr. A. G. Stephen and Mrs. Grace; Mr. Edkins and Mrs. Thorne; Mr. Baker and Mrs. Hunter.

An excellent supper was served by the Hongkong Hotel. Mr. G. J. Harman, President of the Institute, presided over the ball generally, and the committees in charge of the arrangements were as follows:—General Committee:—P. T. Farrell (Chairman), K. E. Greig (Vice-Chairman), J. McCubbin, J. W. Paton, J. Tully, A. Langstone, A. Davidson, J. E. Hansen, T. Neave, W. J. Stokes, H. M. McTavish, E. Cock, A. Leach (Treasurer). RICKSHA TRAFFIC IN 'BROKERS' ALLEY.'

BROKERS' RICKSHA PULLERS PROSECUTED.

The crowding of rickshas in Ica House Street which often causes inconvenience to the public led to an interesting prosecution at the Magistracy yesterday when a ricksha puller employed by Mr. G. P. Lammert was summoned before Mr. R. E. Lindell for having the registered number of his ricksha obscured.

Mr. T. H. King, Deputy Superintendent of Police, prosecuted and explained that the number plate was turned up horizontally and that the numbers could not be seen.

The defendant pleaded that the number could be seen when the shafts were lifted for pulling.

Mr. G. P. Lammert, who was present in Court, informed the Magistrate that the number plates on private rickshas were not painted on the body of the ricksha as they were on ordinary public rickshas, but were shown by a plate secured to the axle of vehicle, generally with soft wires, and were accordingly easily moved out of position. There was never any intention to obscure the number. He understood "obscuring" to mean that something was placed over the plate to conceal the number, and, that being so, was not applicable to his case. He had been in the Colony for very many years, had helped the Police on many occasions, and he thought that such a small offence could have been rectified by a warning.

Mr. King said that the statement of Mr. Lammert had not made clear the facts of the case, which were that this day, week, between 10 and 11 o'clock in the morning, he (Mr. King) passed a number of rickshas in Ica House Street, when he saw the defendant's ricksha abreast of two others in such a manner as to obstruct the roadway. He told the defendant to move on and take up another position, leaving the two others as they were, which the defendant reluctantly did. As regards the imputation by Mr. Lammert that discrimination was made against his ricksha, Mr. King said that he was not aware that the ricksha in question was owned by Mr. Lammert. What caused him to take particular note of the vehicle was the demeanour of the coolie, who turned round and grinned at him after moving the vehicle. The coolie's demeanour was such, that he (Mr. King) turned round to see what number it was, and he had to go three yards down the road before he could see the number. Another coolie had to dive underneath to turn upright the plate, and he had to use so much force in doing it, that it was bent.

Mr. Lammert asked whether he would be charged if in a collision with a motor-car his ricksha were overturned and the number concealed.

The Magistrate: Not immediately afterwards.

Mr. King said they were not pressing for a heavy penalty and his Worship imposed a fine of $2.

THE RICKSHA DANGER IN CHATER ROAD.

THE BROKER'S FAULT.

Another interesting prosecution was preferred against one of Mr. J. H. Mody's three ricksha pullers, who was summoned at the instance of Mr. P. J. Wodehouse (Deputy Superintendent of Police) for pulling his ricksha on the wrong side of the road.

Mr. Wodehouse said that "these brokers," persisted in going along on the wrong side of the road. Going west to east in Chater Road they would go on the wrong side of the road, and, if any other ricksha were going down Ica House Street towards the Ferry Wharf there would be a collision round the corner. As a matter of fact, he had got two more summonses that morning. One three-coolies ricksha was going along Chater Road on the wrong side, and another three-coolies ricksha was going down Ica House Street. They reached the junction at the same time and there was a collision.

Mr. Lindell: It is rather more the fault of the broker than the coolie.

Mr. Wodehouse: Yes, it is rather more the fault of the broker.

Mr. Lindell asked the coolie if his employer had given him the money to pay for the fine. The reply was in the affirmative.

The Magistrate: How much?

Defendant: Five dollars.

The Magistrate: I fine you $3.

THE MAN IN POSSESSION.

FURTHER EVIDENCE IN THE PARTNERSHIP TANGLE.

The case was continued at the Magistracy, yesterday afternoon, before Mr. R. E. Lindell, in which a Chinese merchant, named Lam Lai Luen, is charged with embezzling certain money, title deeds, account books, documents and chops of the Him Yik Firm, of 113, Wing Lok Street.

It is alleged by the prosecution that the defendant maintained control of the firm for two years in defiance of the other partners of the firm. He is said to have refused to hand over the business of the firm whose partners at various meetings had demanded his resignation.

Mr. Campbell Prosser, barrister-at-law, instructed by Mr. R. E. A. Webster, prosecuted, and Mr. F. G. Vaux appeared for the defendant.

One of the principal witnesses for the prosecution Mr. George C. Lam, a Chinese of Los Angeles City, was called yesterday and said that he returned from America last November. He saw the defendant and asked him about the business of the firm and also asked to see the accounts. The defendant refused. Witness then called the partners together and they held a meeting. They again asked the defendant to show the accounts, but the defendant refused their request. The witness and some of the partners then went to the firm's premises and asked for the books. The defendant then made an excuse for not producing the books that the Him Yik Loong Firm, in San Francisco (a branch of the Him Yik Firm) owed the Him Yik Firm some money and he would not produce the books until the money was paid back to him. Witness told the defendant that he would guarantee any money which was owing to the firm. After further argument the defendant finally decided to open the safe. It was found to be empty. A struggle then followed for the possession of the keys. Witness grabbed the defendant's hands and, with the help of the other partners, forced open the right hand and took the keys. There were a number of boxes in the room, but as a Chinese said they were his personal property, witness did not attempt to open them.

Mr. Prosser: How would you describe the defendant's position in relation to the firm? Witness: He appeared to me to be an outsider, only that he slept in the room. There was no business being carried on and he was just like a silent partner. What about the business—the property which was there—how did you regard that?—I regarded him as having charge of that at the time. I suppose you cannot tell what money belongs to the firm—I don't know; simply what I have heard. A note was shown to me once that there was $3,000 in the safe. Cross-examined by Mr. Vaux, the witness said that he had lived in America for many years and that he did business in Los Angeles in insurance, and at times as a Court interpreter there.

Pressed by Mr. Vaux to describe the defendant's attitude, witness said he was very shy and would not talk at all. When a number of the partners went to see him he pounded the table and said: "I have not to recognise you; so don't talk to me."

In reply to further questions, the witness said that as far as he could gather the defendant's name was not even on the partnership book. Witness said his own name was in the book under the name of Lam Kwok Cheong. The amount of money he invested in the firm was $500.

"Do you know how much money the defendant has in the firm?" asked Mr. Vaux.

Witness replied that he did not. Continuing, witness said that when he first came to Hongkong he received a visit at the Great Eastern Hotel from the defendant, who asked him why he had come from America. He further asked if he had been sent over to straighten out the business. The witness told defendant that was not exactly so, but that he had heard of the trouble. The defendant then appeared to be very shy about the whole matter, principally because the partners wished to replace him in the business by a younger man.

Mr. Vaux: Do you know that the Him Yik Loong Firm in America owes money to the Him Yik Firm in Hongkong? No, I don't. Well, have you heard that they owe something like $38,000?—I have heard of that. Further evidence was then taken and the case was again remanded.

ARMED ROBBERY IN THE CITY.

YESTERDAY'S INCIDENT IN DES VEAUX ROAD CENTRAL.

Just before 1 p.m. yesterday an armed robbery took place at No. 52, Des Vaux Road Central. Five robbers, carrying revolvers, entered the first floor, which was occupied by a wealthy Chinese lady. The lady was the only person in the flat at the time and she was bound and gagged. The robbers then carried out a search for valuables. A house boy, who returned to the flat while the robbers were there, was also bound and gagged. The value of the stolen property is said to be $200.

The robbers are believed to have been in receipt of information to the effect that the mistress of the flat was to have received that day a bank draft for $5,000. In this particular direction it is believed that their plans miscarried.

DENIZENS OF THE POND.

FASCINATING STORY TOLD AT THE HELENA MAY INSTITUTE.

Mr. R. W. Barney, M.A., of the Hongkong University, delivered a delightful lantern lecture to children at Helena May Institute yesterday afternoon on the subject of "Pond Life." His young listeners hung on his words enthralled, and he was favoured with a silence so complete as to be unusual where children are concerned.

Mr. Barney prefaced his lecture by pointing out to the children that they were about to enter with him a new and a strange world—a world inhabited by beautiful dragons, nymphs, and fairies, far stranger in their conception than anything the human imagination could visualise. This was a land where the plants were not content to stay still and grow, satisfied merely with their own beauty, but moved and wandered about, and even struggled and fought for their rights. If they were fond of beautiful scenery and colours, they would see much to delight them in pond life.

The lecturer demonstrated the truth of his remarks by throwing a number of fascinating pictures of pond creatures on to the screen, and he explained each one in a most interesting manner. They traced with him the birth and life of our common foe, the mosquito, of the gad fly, the dragon fly, the caddis, and many other denizens of the pond, and those with livelier imaginations read into them something of the romance, sad tragedy, weird and grotesque, beautiful and frightful, which goes on day by day in the still, murky waters of tiny ponds.

JAPAN AND MILITARISM.

FOREIGNERS regard Japan as a militarist country; the Japanese deny it, explaining the outward appearance of militarism by the need for protection against foreign assault. That Japan has not been attacked by any foreign Power since she opened her doors to foreign intercourse, and that she has twice proclaimed war against neighbouring Powers are facts by which they are unmoved, since they contend that the movement for war came from the other side and that they were provoked into declaring war by aggression. On this point there is this much to be said for the Japanese, that it is very difficult to assign the real blame for any war, each effect being traceable to a cause which, in turn, arises from another cause, and so on ad infinitum. On the other hand, the very fact of having made war and of having started war gives a country a bad reputation, and if there are other factors of a military nature adjoined to this charge of militarism cannot be avoided. The German Empire was not militarist on account of its wars, which were comparatively few; it was militarist in spirit and because it was always threatening war. The same militarist spirit is encouraged in Japan and there is the same feeling abroad that Japan is always threatening war, such a threat of war being, it need hardly be stated, one of the main causes why wars take place. If this threat were removed then the feeling that Japan is a militarist country would die away, but it is not likely to die away while patriotism of a pugnacious kind is inculcated.

A Japanese writing to one of the foreign papers in Japan contends that Japan is not a militarist country because she is not organised for war. Her people, he says, are ill-fed, ill-housed and ill-educated, in a word, unfit for fighting. The writer lays special stress on the poverty of Japanese education, the schools, "where war, to be successful, should be planned," he thinks, "being abode, dilapidated, rickety, insanitary,"

JAPAN AND MILITARISM.

FOREIGNERS regard Japan as a militarist country; the Japanese deny it, explaining the outward appearance of militarism by the need for protection against foreign assault. That Japan has not been attacked by any foreign Power since she opened her doors to foreign intercourse, and that she has twice proclaimed war against neighbouring Powers are facts by which they are unmoved, since they contend that the movement for war came from the other side and that they were provoked into declaring war by aggression. On this point there is this much to be said for the Japanese, that it is very difficult to assign the real blame for any war, each effect being traceable to a cause which, in turn, arises from another cause, and so on ad infinitum. On the other hand, the very fact of having made war and of having started war gives a country a bad reputation, and if there are other factors of a military nature adjoined to this charge of militarism cannot be avoided. The German Empire was not militarist on account of its wars, which were comparatively few; it was militarist in spirit and because it was always threatening war. The same militarist spirit is encouraged in Japan and there is the same feeling abroad that Japan is always threatening war, such a threat of war being, it need hardly be stated, one of the main causes why wars take place. If this threat were removed then the feeling that Japan is a militarist country would die away, but it is not likely to die away while patriotism of a pugnacious kind is inculcated.

A Japanese writing to one of the foreign papers in Japan contends that Japan is not a militarist country because she is not organised for war. Her people, he says, are ill-fed, ill-housed and ill-educated, in a word, unfit for fighting. The writer lays special stress on the poverty of Japanese education, the schools, "where war, to be successful, should be planned," he thinks, "being abode, dilapidated, rickety, insanitary," while countless numbers of boys are knocking at the doors of the higher schools in vain. The connection thus drawn between education and militarism, in the sense that education promotes militarism, is an interesting one because it is in itself the result of militarist propaganda in the schools, while it also follows closely on German lines of thought. The picture the correspondent draws of education in Japan is an exaggerated one. There are no doubt dilapidated schools and also insanitary buildings, well equipped and more or less efficient. Also there are many boys who seek admission into the higher schools, but whether they would distinguish themselves in the higher schools is another question. The opinion may be expressed that the weeding out process which goes on in the schools higher than the elementary schools is not without advantage, since it prevents many youths of no special ability from continuing studies which would not be to their advantage. Even now the students who have managed to enter and pass through the higher schools often find it difficult to fit themselves into life and prove useful citizens owing to their having been educated for a position in life for which their natural abilities do not qualify them.

However, the point is that the Japanese authorities regard the schools as their best means for producing that uniformity of thought and feeling which are supposed to characterise a well-trained army, and that the association between education and militarism has been established so closely that even the correspondent of the foreign paper has fallen into the belief that militarism requires a high degree of education. The misapprehension lies in the meaning applied to the word education. Is education meant to develop independence of thought or to suppress it? To train people to think for themselves, or to numb the thinking faculties and produce automata? Advanced educationalists in most countries regard the benefits of education as arising from the training it gives to the mind to take an interest in and understand as far as possible the problems of life, including the great problem of how to live, but under the camouflage of education, especially when it is in Government control, there is very often "disseminated" a form of State propaganda which is very widely separated from any development of the mind or training of the thinking powers.

We thus come to the curious position of the correspondent in associating a high degree of education with a high degree of militarism, quite contrary to the spirit with which universal education was first promoted, which was to allay the angry passions rather than arouse them, to create a liberal attitude of mind rather than the narrow one of militarism demands, and to give that sweetness and light which would allow of the composure of differences amicably rather than by the arbitrament of war. The correspondent does nothing to allay any alarm that may be felt abroad as to Japan's militarism; rather he will serve to increase it, since he points the direction in which the Japanese authorities are working and gives the impression that all advances in the educational efficiency of the country mean advances in the direction of militarism.

A recent scandal as to a supply of rifles to a boys' school for purposes of military drill evoked from the official in charge of the Military Arsenal from which the rifles were obtained the explanation that the supply of rifles to the schools was in connection with the principles of universal military training, which can only mean that the schools are being used as barracks for turning out soldiers, not citizens. Actually they give a military training to those students who escape being called up as conscripts, whether by reason of physical defects or their educational attainments, for those who show special ability in entering certain colleges may have their term of conscription cancelled or greatly shortened. Militarism is thus imparted under the form of physical drill, which is everywhere recognised as a necessary part of education, and so much is such knowledge agreeable to Japanese feelings and sentiments that we have a Japanese identifying education with militarism. The past history of the Japanese nation shows that they need nothing to incite their pugnacity; rather it is in the direction of allaying it that efforts should be made. Even in civilian life its presence is too frequent to be pleasant. Scenes in the Diet, in the Prefectural Assemblies, in the Municipal Councils, at company meetings, are recorded nearly every day. Those who do not desire to come to blows themselves hire bravo, whose profession it is to take up all quarrels for the side which pays them, oblivious of law and order. The politeness of the Japanese language is in itself a sign that any scratching of the surface will reveal ugly traits. When qualities such as these are found in the individual, it may be certain that they will be found in the mass, and the efforts of the authorities being in the direction of maintaining this pugnacity as a valuable national asset, Japan cannot avoid the charge of militarism which is levelled against her.

"EVERY AVAILABLE MEANS TO FRUSTRATE FRENCH POLICY."

BERLIN, January 25th.

The German Government is firmly resolved to resort to every available means in order to frustrate the French policy of violence, declared the Minister of Finance (Herr Hermes) in a speech delivered in the Reichstag. The Minister said it would be an unparalleled disgrace if the Germans allowed themselves to be forced by military orders to help the French, by tyranny, to extort payments or deliveries in kind from the occupied areas. The reparations and Rhineland commissions had become mere tools of France. Introducing the Budget for 1933, Herr Hermes stated there was a deficit of between fourteen and sixteen hundred milliard marks.

POLISH GOVERNMENT TO ASSIST FRANCE.

BRUSSELS, January 25th.

It is semi-officially stated that the youths in many parts of the country are offering to serve in the Reichwehr, but the Government has advised them to continue in their occupations because no recruits for the Reichwehr beyond the regular number can be accepted.

A semi-official news agency states that, according to information from Warsaw, the Polish War Ministry has ordered the time-expired men of the Polish and German armies, familiar with working the postal services, railways, banks, mines and smelting works, and fully acquainted with German, to place themselves forthwith at the disposal of the French Government. They will be shipped from Danzig to the Ruhr. Very high wages are guaranteed.

DISORDERLY DEMONSTRATIONS AT MAYENCE.

LONDON, January 25th.

Messages from Mayence via Paris said Berlin, describing the disorders at Mayence at the conclusion of the trial, that a crowd of four thousand demonstrators overturned a tram-car, burned French newspapers, and molested civilians and soldiers. Several persons were injured and several arrests were made. Armoured cars were placed in front of the French headquarters and cavalry patrolled the streets all night long.

BERLIN, January 25th.

The six court-martialled industrialists have returned to Essen, where they were given an ovation at the station by immense crowds, singing patriotic songs.

MAYENCE, January 25th.

General Marchal, the commander at Mayence, has issued a proclamation stating that, owing to the inactivity of the German Authorities and police during yesterday's disorders, he has assumed control of the German police. The military authorities have been ordered to suppress all attempt at disorder without scruple. The troops have been ordered to use their arms.

PARIS, January 25th.

A message from Duesseldorf says it is understood that a conference between General Weyand and other French Authorities has decided to stop all movement of coal to Germany from the Ruhr, from to-morrow.

AMSTERDAM, January 25th.

An agreement has been concluded with several coal mines in Dutch Limburg to deliver coal to unoccupied Germany. A thousand tons was despatched on January 23rd.

RUSSIAN ARMY MOBILISED ON POLISH FRONTIER.

LONDON, January 25th.

The meeting of the Labour Executive in London, mentioned yesterday, was attended by Fimmen, secretary of the Trade Union International, who asserted that France had arranged for Polish troops to co-operate with the French in the Ruhr by occupying East Prussia. He added that if this were done, the Russian "Red" army was already massed on the frontiers and would invade Poland.

The Executive appointed the M.P.s, Messrs. Henderson, Thomas and Shaw and the railwayman Mr. Cramp to attend the International Committee meeting at Amsterdam to-day.

SOVIET OIL DEAL

LONDON SYDICAUTE'S COMMISSION CLAIM DISMISSED.

LONDON, January 25th.

Mr. Justice Darling gave judgment for the Royal Dutch Company in an action by a London syndicate to recover commission alleged to be due for obtaining from the Soviet Government of Russia concessions for the restoration of the Company's oil properties in Russia, also concession for a pipeline from Grozny to Novorossiysk. The plaintiffs admitted that business had not resulted from the introduction of the defendants to Krasniy, and asked leave to amend the claim by alleging that they were entitled to remuneration for the introduction, but the Judge did not allow the amendment.

THE TURKISH TREATY.

TO BE PRESENTED AT CONFERENCE ON THURSDAY.

LAUSANNE, January 25th.

It has now been arranged that the treaty be presented to Turkey at a plenary sitting of the Conference on February 1st. All the delegations will leave Lausanne at the end of this week, but a representative of each delegation will remain in case the Turks require explanations. If the Turks decide to sign the treaty, the heads of the delegations will return to Lausanne for the signature. It is anticipated that a letter will be sent to the League of Nations to-day with regard to the Mosul question, and presumably this question will be brought before the Council of the League next week. It is not improbable that the Council will send a commission of investigation to Mosul.

PEKING CABINET.

SPECULATION REGARDING MR. ALFRED SZYM'S SUCCESSOR.

PEKING, January 25th.

A mandate issued last night appointed the members of the Cabinet to permanent rank, with the exception of Mr. Alfred Sze who left Peking for Tientsin yesterday. Mr. Sze has not yet recovered from an attack of influenza. He tendered his resignation when taken ill, and though this has not been accepted, he was verbally granted leave. It is expected that his resignation will be accepted simultaneously with the appointment of his successor.

There is much speculation regarding this appointment, but it is reliably stated that Wang Yung Pao, ex-Minister at Berne, will be offered the post, but he desires a Parliamentary vote before taking up acting rank.

Liu En Yuan is taking up his post this afternoon and Wu Yu Lin to-morrow.

JAPANESE NAVY.

NO ANXIETY REGARDING AMERICAN RIVALRY.

TOKYO, January 25th.

In the Diet an interpellation was addressed to the Government by the former Cabinet Minister Wakatsuki. The Premier answered saying that the anxiety respecting possible rivalry between America and Japan in auxiliary warships appears unfounded for, as both Powers are respecting the spirit of the Washington agreement. Ten thousand tonnage for cruisers was adopted by the Washington Conference because the exports there agreed that the War's lessons showed that smaller craft were not of value. The replacement of warships was a matter for future consideration.

SUN YAT SEN'S MANIFESTO.

SHANGHAI, January 25th.

Sun Yat Sen has issued a manifesto declaring now that the Constitutionists have driven Chen Chiung Ming from Canton, a considerable barrier to reunification has been removed, and constructive work made more practicable.

Sun Yat Sen declares that he will do his utmost to hasten reunification by peaceful means, and reinstitute the rule of law.

Sun Yat Sen points out that the four groups, Chihli, Fengtien, Anhui and the South-West Provinces, which are now the main ruling forces in China, should co-operate in upholding the law.

Sun Yat Sen declares that China's superfluous troops are like a grave disease in the body politic, and he emphasises the necessity for the disbandment of the troops before attempting reunification.

Sun Yat Sen submits a definite proposal for reunification, namely, the reduction of the troops by one-half, which would then be convertible into labour corps for the construction of roads, etc., and he also suggests that an invitation be extended to a foreign Power (?) to assist China to devise means for the disbandment of the troops, including the raising of a disbandment loan.

SALT GABELLE.

INCREASE OF REVENUE.

PEKING, January 24th.

The salt revenue for the year 1932, after meeting the administrative expenses, paid into the Group Banks was $85,789,000, being an increase of $7,601,000 compared with 1931.

All obligations secured on the salt revenue were fully met.

The surplus funds released to the Government was $78,882,000, but $31,000,000 represents sums retained locally or appropriated by the provincial authorities or the militarists.

The retentions increased $13,000,000 compared with last year.

The reserve at the banks is maintained at $7,000,000.

ALLEGED BURGLARY OF A

EUROPEAN HOUSE.

KOWLOON HOUSE BOY CHARGED.

Robert Nicholl, an apprentice at the Kowloon Dock, appeared at the Magistrate's Court, yesterday, as the complainant in a case in which a house-boy, employed by Mrs. Stewart, of No. 23, Cameron Road, Kowloon, was charged with the theft of several pieces of clothing belonging to him from the basement of No. 3, Armand Buildings, Kowloon.

The principal witness in the case was a house-boy employed at No. 3, Armand Buildings. He told his Worship that whilst he was in the kitchen he heard a sound of tapping which came from the floor below and which was occupied by his wife. His suspicions were aroused and on going to his wife's room he informed her that somebody had tried to open the door with a key. He kept watch in the lane outside and about ten minutes later a man appeared with a bundle under his arm. He pursued him and succeeded in overtaking him.

When taken to the Police Station, Inspector Spear said, the man was found to be in possession of a number of keys, one of which belonged to Mrs. Stewart's front room. A damaged padlock had also been found in the vicinity of the room from which the clothes were stolen. The man who found the padlock was not present in Court.

The Magistrate adjourned the case until this morning in order that this person could be called.

A HAT THAT LOOKED OUT OF PLACE.

Inspector Kent produced a new felt hat in Court, yesterday morning, which is believed to have been stolen from a ricksha. A Chinese youth, in whose possession the hat was found, was charged before Mr. J. R. Wood, with unlawful possession. He told his Worship that he saw another man steal the hat from a ricksha passenger in Queen's Road West. He gave chase and caught the thief and took the hat from him. Shortly afterwards he was arrested himself by a constable.

At the time of his arrest he was wearing the hat. The astute constable considered the hat and the defendant's clothes formed too great a contrast to pass by without further investigation.

Mr. Wood put the case back until Monday morning and asked the Inspector to make further enquiries as to the ownership of the hat.

"DREAM STREET."

AT THE CORONET NEXT WEEK.

There is always something interesting and distinctive about the settings of D. W. Griffith's pictures, but that of "Dream Street," one of the most recent and most notable of his screen achievements which is being shown at the Coronet all next week, possesses a charm that is beyond description. In a forward to the film he says it is not Limehouse nor London, Penryn or High Street that is pictured. It is in truth one of the fascinating lands of Nowhere that Mr. Griffith so well and with such imaginative resourcefulness invents.

A trinity of characters in the persons of a young girl, Gypsy Fair, "Spike" McFadden, and "Billie" his brother are the youthful people around whose lives is wrapped a romance filled with poetic visions and governed by the Good and Evil influences of this world symbolised in two very remarkable characters. Good is personified by a street preacher and Evil by a street fiddler. Another notable figure in the drama is Sway Wan, a Chinese gambler who plots to get the girl for himself.

TODAY'S BOXING.

We are asked to state that the Chadwick-Davies fight for the Lightweight Championship will not take place to-night as Davies is unable to do the weight.

The Morgan-Dixon fight for the Welterweight Championship will be supported by a 10-round Lightweight Contest between Pta. Flynn and King's Regt., and A. B. Lator, H.M.S. Hawkins, and a six-round Contest.

COMPANY MEETINGS.

THE HONGKONG CENTRAL ESTATE, LIMITED.

The ninth annual general meeting of the shareholders of the Hongkong Central Estate, Ltd., was held at the offices of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co., Ltd., yesterday morning. The Hon. Sir Paul Chater, C.M.G., presided and there were also present: Mr. D. G. M. Bernard, The Rev. Father Robert and Mr. A. H. Compton (Directors), Mr. M. S. Northcote (Secretary), and the following shareholders:—Sir Robert Ho Tung, Messrs. J. T. Bagram, F. P. Deacon, E. Sadick and Lau Hi Nam.

The CHAIRMAN said:—Gentlemen, I propose with your sanction to take the report, balance sheet and auditors' report, which have been in your hands for some days, as read. The net profits for the year amount to $180,238.73 as compared with $152,150.93 for 1921 a year ago, the profit for which was augmented to the amount of $13,835.34 by profits on sales of our holdings in shares, so that I think the result for this year may be considered very satisfactory. Rent account shows an increase of something over $15,000 and interest appears for the first time since 1917 upon the credit side of profit and loss account while general charges on the debit side are some $5,700 less than for 1921, thanks to a lower expenditure in upkeep of our property. You will notice on the liability side of the balance sheet an item, "Bargain money on sale of Island Lot, No. 4,181. This lot comprises the building known as Prince's Building, and it has been no secret for some time that we have sold this block on good terms, the sale being due for completion at the end of March next. The increase in our profits enables us to pay an additional $1 per share by way of dividend, making a dividend over the year of 10 per cent. upon the capital, a course, of which I have no doubt you will approve, and we carry forward to this year's working the sum of $311,000.79 as against $160,862.07 at the end of 1921. I now beg to propose that the report, and accounts, as presented, be adopted and passed, and when this has been duly seconded I shall be pleased to answer to the best of my ability, any questions shareholders may wish to put.

Sir Robert Ho Tung seconded the adoption of the report, which was carried unanimously.

On the motion of Mr. Lau Hi Nam, seconded by Mr. F. P. Deacon, the confirmation of Mr. A. H. Compton to the Board of Directors during the absence on leave of Mr. S. S. Perry and the election of Mr. A. H. Compton to the Board to replace Mr. S. S. Perry who subsequently resigned, was carried unanimously.

Sir Paul Chater was re-elected to the Board of Directors on the motion of Mr. J. T. Bagram, seconded by Father Robert.

Messrs. H. Percy-Smith and C. Bernard Brown were re-elected auditors for the ensuing year at a salary of $150 each on the motion of Mr. M. S. Northcote, seconded by Mr. E. Sadick.

This was all the business before the meeting.

HONGKONG LAND RECLAMATION COMPANY, LTD.

COMPANY TO BE VOLUNTARILY WOUND-UP.

The twenty-first annual general meeting of the Hongkong Land Reclamation Co., Ltd., was held at the offices of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co., Ltd., yesterday at noon. Mr. D. G. M. Bernard presided and there were also present: The Hon. Sir Paul Chater, C.M.G., Sir Robert Ho Tung, Mr. A. H. Compton, and Mr. M. S. Northcote (Directors), and the following shareholders:—The Rev. Father Robert, Messrs. H. Percy-Smith, J. T. Bagram, H. P. White, A. S. Ellis, E. Sadick and H. A. Rodgers.

The CHAIRMAN said:—Gentlemen, I propose, with your permission, to take the report and balance sheet, together with the auditors' report, which have been in your hands for some days, as read. The net profits for the year amount to $399,124.79 as against $32,560.84 for 1921. This is accounted for principally by the sales of the greater portion of Kowloon Marine Lot No. 49, and our Peak property. Both of these sales I announced at our last annual meeting. The profits realized were $397,698.71 and $12,564 respectively. You will also notice that a profit of over $33,000 has been made from sale of shares. The remaining assets of the Company now consist of the block of K.M. Lot 49, standing in our books at $65,000, immature mortgages, amounting to $1,288,000, and some shares. It is therefore the intention of your Directors to wind-up the Company when the remainder of the property has been sold, and the mortgages which fall due in 1924, have been repaid. It is with this object in view that in addition to the usual dividend of 7 per cent. on the paid-up capital, we are recommending the payment of a bonus of $110 per share, which will absorb all the funds available at the present time. I trust this course will meet with your approval. I now beg to propose that the report and statement of accounts as presented be adopted and passed, and shall be glad if some shareholder will kindly second the proposal.

The adoption of the report and statement of accounts was seconded by Mr. M. P. Warr and carried unanimously.

On the motion of Mr. A. S. Ellis, seconded by Mr. E. Sadick, the confirmation of the election of Mr. Hector Sassoon to the Board of Directors to replace Messrs. A. H. Compton and S. S. Perry (resigned) was carried unanimously.

This was all the business before the meeting.

AND ANY KINDRED TROUBLE

can be readily banished if you use the right remedy. When the organs of digestion lose the power of fulfilling their vital functions in a natural and efficient manner, digestive disorders are sure to follow, and the only remedy is to restore these organs to healthy activity again.

Mother Seigel's Syrup is the ideal tonic in all such cases. It contains the medicinal extracts of more than ten different roots, barks and leaves, which, in combination, have a remarkably beneficial effect upon the digestive system, toning, strengthening, and restoring it to efficient working order. With these important organs normally active, digestive disorders will trouble you no longer. Test Mother Seigel's Syrup for yourself to-day! It is the ideal remedy for indigestion, biliousness, constipation and kindred disorders.

THE BEST MISSIONARY STORY EVER TOLD.

One of the best stories ever told appears in the current issue of Truth. It is given in a humorous commentary on previous arguments over the question of the admission of coloured students to our universities.

The story was received (says the writer) from a young graduate of Oxford, who has lately abandoned the clerical for the legal calling.

This young gentleman returned from the Great War with his two closest friends in a very serious state of mind. Together the three entered Balliol College; and there their seriousness rapidly developed into religious fever—I mean fervour—and they all agreed that as soon as they had graduated they would devote themselves to missionary work among the heathen.

BORNEO—OR WAS IT PAPUA?

They kept their vows; and so great was their fervour that they begged the missionary authorities to send them to the most heathenish place just then open. So they were then sent either to Borneo or Papua, I forget now which.

They found the neighbourhood in which they began their labours as heathenish as they could desire; for they were planted among cannibals. A few of these along the coast had been weaned from their wicked ways, and professed and called themselves Christians.

But in the interior heathenism and cannibalism still prevailed, and it was to the interior that the three young missionaries were directed to carry the light of the Gospel.

Now, it so happened that in one of their excursions for this purpose they were captured by the natives, who promptly trusted them up and began preparations to make a feast of them.

The young men, watched with horror the building up of three large fires, the production of three large pots, the sharpening of knives made of fish bones, and the floating looks which their captors from time to time cast on them.

The missionaries had practically abandoned hope when their attention was aroused by the arrival of a huge negro, adorned with more feathers and shells and dyed in more striking colours than the other cannibals. From the deference with which he was received they rightly guessed that he was the chief of the tribe.

He seemed at first much pleased at the situation, but after examining the captives closely he called a palaver.

The missionaries' knowledge of the local lingo was only slight; but slight as it was, what they could make out of the speeches began to raise hope in their breasts.

ARGUMENT SILENCED.

It was clear the chief was objecting to their being "cooked." There was considerable opposition to his view. This opposition became so hot that the chief found it necessary to club his chief opponent.

He hit the tribesman on the head with his bludgeon, and "the subsequent proceedings interested him no more." Even that was not sufficient to silence protest, and before the chief succeeded in carrying his motion unanimously he had to club six others.

The motion carried, the chief selected a dozen of his most trusty clansmen, who at once released the three missionaries from their bonds.

Then the chief said in good English with a slight Oxford drawl: "I am very sorry you have been inconvenienced, gentlemen; but all is well now. These warriors will see you safely back to the missionary station, and so good-bye." Then he whispered an aside:

"I'm dressed so differently that probably you do not recognise me, but I recognise you well enough. You were along with me at Balliol three years ago; and, of course, no Balliol man could think of eating a fellow Balliol man."

Then, turning away, he gave final instructions to the guards and went back to his own people.

So, as I have indicated, concludes the writer, I now see that I went too far when I said the education of black students at our universities and schools is never of any advantage to themselves or anybody else.

LIFE'S GREATEST GIFT.

PERE'S TRIBUTE TO HIS WIFE.

Princess Beatrice opened the Lady Lever Art Gallery, Port Sunlight, on December 16th, and Lord Leverhulme announced his intention of transferring the building and priceless collection to trustees to control it, with a sufficient income for its maintenance free of cost to any individual or the firm of Lever Brothers.

Lord Leverhulme said his late wife was always part of his life. They were born on opposite sides of the road, attended the same school when 5 years of age, and she accepted him when he was 21, when his visible and reliable income was £1 1s per week exclusive of tips. Apart from that, he got 30s, and a ticket to the Isle of Man for an annual holiday, and spread it over two weeks. But for his wife he doubted if there would have been a Port Sunlight or a firm of the dimensions of Lever's. She was a womanly woman, and wives who wished to hold their husbands should make them feel they had every confidence in them. A man who was fortunate to win the love of a good woman had won everything life could give. Art had always appealed to him as stimulating and uplifting.

Bequeathing his estate, valued at £20,000, to his wife, the Ven. Dr. H. W. Watkins, D.D., stated: "My wife has, through the singular beauty of her grace and character, been under God the chief cause of all my highest good."

CUTICURA HEALS ITCHING BURNING

On Hands and Arms. Formed Blisters. Unable To Sleep.

"I burned my hands and arms causing terrible itching and burning which formed little blisters. I was unable to sleep nights. Through rubbing the blisters they broke, causing the skin to dry and crack, and my hands began to look awful."

"I saw a Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertisement and sent for a sample. I got relief so I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment and after one month's treatment I was healed." (Signed) Mr. F. Mew, 18, Cookham Hill, Boreham, Rochester, Kent, Eng.

Does Money Interest You?

FEW MEN ever become so affluent that they are indifferent to what they spend. Even the most wealthy motorist insists upon maximum value for every dollar he invests in a car.

This explains the popularity of the Chandler with those who know values.

All that is essential, all that is modern, all that appeals to pride, all that means economy of operation, is embodied in the new Chandler.

Sterling performance on the road.—

Richness, beauty and good taste in line and appointment.—

Power, ruggedness and advanced engineering in the chassis.—

These factors allied to surprisingly low cost.

The Chandler models meet every possible transportation need.

The Chandler takes you, at lowest cost, into the fine car class.

This is the special appeal that explains the Chandler success.
